Will Co. Again Under Rabies Quarantine

County health authorities have been notified by the State Department of Agriculture that Will county is again being placed under rabies quarantine, announced Dr. Walter V. Hedges, Acting Health Officer for the Will County health department.

This is the second time within a year that Will county has been placed under quarantine. The first order was received July 27th, 1948 and released October 27th. Due to the report of a rabid dog in Joliet and two suspicious cases in the county, plus several cases in adjoining counties on the north and east, the rabies quarantine has again been placed on Will county.

Dr. Hedges stated that the county will remain under quarantine until further notice. It will be necessary for Will county to develop a control program before release of the quarantine can be justified.

This control program should consist of facilities for the apprehension and impounding of stray dogs, particularly along the northern and eastern boundaries of the county. The control program should also include the continued annual vaccination of all controlled dogs in Will county, said Dr. Hedges.

All stray dogs are to be picked up. In Joliet township these dogs will be confined in the city dog pound. In the other townships of the county it will be up to the various supervisors to make arrangements for handling these stray dogs.

Dr. Hedges urges all dog owners to keep their dogs tied—both for the protection of their pet and the protection of their family.

Santa, going down the chimney is very realistic, and the roof is decorated with Christmas candies. There is a celophane Christmas tree in the house and also several good sized ones on the lawn. Candy canes form a fence around the house with a snow man and snow ground being made of white cotton. A ginger-bread couple is nearby.

Mrs. Patterson, who lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Liess at the junction of routes 6 and Wolf road, where they have a gas service station and lunch room, is employed by the Rock Island in their Chicago offices.

Carbon Monoxide Gas is Deadly Killer

Carbon monoxide is a deadly poison gas. It causes many deaths each year, particularly as the weather grows colder, according to the Educational Committee of the Illinois State Medical Society in a Health Talk.

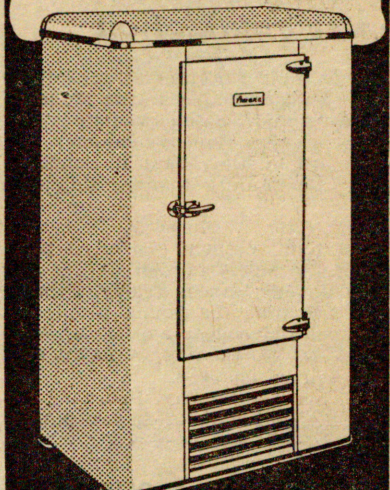

The gas is a by-product of imperfect combustion in stoves and furnaces and is a component of exhaust gas from automobiles. The gas is a seldom noticed, odorless, tasteless and colorless, which makes it unusually dangerous because victims can be overcome before being aware of the gas.

When carbon monoxide gas is breathed into the lungs, it passes into the blood stream, where it combines with hemoglobin and blocks out oxygen from uniting with the red blood cells. Death follows quickly when the tissues are deprived of oxygen.

The symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning vary with the amount of gas in the air and the length of time of exposure. With small doses, there are no symptoms. When the percentage of blood cells loaded with carbon monoxide instead of oxygen reaches 20 per cent, there is likely to be a tingling of the forehead with a slight headache and dilatation or expansion of the blood vessels in the skin. Between 20 and 30 per cent, there is severe headache and throbbing in the temples, irritability and errors of judgment. At 40 per cent, the headache becomes worse, there is a sense of weakness and dizziness, the vision becomes dim, nausea and vomiting follow and the victim may collapse, especially if he is actively at work. From 60 per cent up, breathing may cease, the victim is unconscious and may die. When the percentage is over 70, death is certain. Carbon monoxide is dangerous if exposure lasts an hour or more at 1500 or more parts per 1,000,000 in the air.

The victim of carbon monoxide poisoning should be moved into fresh air immediately. A physician should be called at once and artificial respiration should be given until he arrives. The patient should be kept warm. Giving the patient oxygen or a mixture with carbon dioxide releases the carbon monoxide, freeing it from the blood about four times as rapidly as would the inhalation of air. In severe cases, blood transfusions may be necessary.

Carbon monoxide is a dangerous killer. Remember that it can cause severe damage and even death—without warning.

The Illinois department of public health, has announced that the American National Red Cross will make no more shipments of blood plasma to the department of health. As a consequence the department will no longer be able to supply blood plasma to the physicians and hospitals of the state as it has been doing since early in 1946.

Since March 7, 1946 a total of 93,802 units of dried blood plasma, surplus returned to the Red Cross from the armed forces, was distributed on request to hospitals and private physicians free of charge. In the future it will be necessary that physicians and hospitals desiring plasma obtain it either from community blood banks or commercial sources.

Your Income Tax

John T. Jarecki, Collector of Internal Revenue for the First District of Illinois

FORM 1040A

For the year 1948 the Bureau of Internal Revenue has done away with the W-2 Form as a final income tax return. In its place a new Form 1040A has been devised. This form 1040A is a single sheet return printed on buff colored paper.

This new form is the simplest of the three returns available. It is similar to the form which appeared last year on the back of the withholding statement. If you file this form you do not need to figure your own tax. From your answers to the questions, the Collector will figure your tax, and send you a bill or a refund.

If your total income is less than $5000.00 and consisted entirely of wages reported on Withholding Statements, or of such wages and not more than $100.00 total of other wages, dividends and interest, you may use Form 1040A. If you had any income from other sources, such as annuities, rents, royalties, a business or profession, farming, transactions in securities or other property, partnerships, estates and trusts, you may not use 1040 A but must file on Form 1040. You cannot deduct travel or reimbursed expenses from your wages if you file Form 1040A.

Form 1040 may be used either as a short form or as a long form. The short form is simpler than the long form. It differs from Form 1040A in that you must compute your own tax; you may include income from sources not eligible for 1040A; and you may deduct travel and reimbursed expenses from your wages. If your income was less than $5000.00 and you do not desire to itemize nonbusiness deductions, contributions, interest etc., find your tax on the table on the back of the form which allows 10% for such deductions, tear off the second sheet and file the first sheet of Form 1040 as a short form.

FORM 1040

If your non-business deductions are more than ten percent of your income, you will ordinarily save money by itemizing your actual deductions on Long Form 1040. You will then figure your tax according to the computation on Page 3, and file the entire form, which is called a long form return.

If your non-business deductions are so close to ten percent of your income that you are in doubt which is the better form for you to use, try both the short form and the long form to make sure.

If your income was $5000.00 or more, you must use Long Form 1040. However, in that case, you can take either the standard deduction or itemize and claim your actual deductions.

You should compare your actual deductions with the amount allowed by the standard deduction. If the actual deductions exceed the standard deduction, you will save tax by electing to itemize them. If you are single, or if you are married and file a joint return, the standard deduction is ten percent of your income, but not more than $1000.00. If husband and wife file separate returns, the standard deduction cannot exceed $500.00 for each.

Remember, that while the use of Long Form must be used by taxpayers whose income is $5000.00 or more, it may also be used by those with incomes of less than $5000.00 if they wish.

Taxpayers who make large payments of interest and taxes on their homes, those who have large medical expenses and those who during the year have incurred losses by fire, accidents or theft will usually gain by using the Long Form 1040.

The next article will deal with the problems of married persons and the filing of joint returns.

HIGHLY FLAVORED FEEDS CAUSE OFF-TASTE MILK

Any of a dozen different kinds of highly-flavored plants and vegetables can distort the flavor and odor of milk if fed to cows just before milking. Corn silage, cabbage, turnips, and similar vegetables are a frequent cause of off flavors this time of year. The trouble can be avoided largely by giving such feed immediately after milking—never before.

When a Surge Milker is put to work you can depend on money making milking.

It is the milker that does automatically what other machines have to be helped to do. Ask the dairy man who owns a Surge. For further information call or see

New Markets are Born in a Test Tube

New products are developed, new uses are found for meat and by-products in Swift's Food Research Laboratories. Thus our "scientist-salesmen" help you find wider outlets for your livestock.

Many million head of livestock are marketed annually. Demand for meat from these animals has been increased by Swift research.

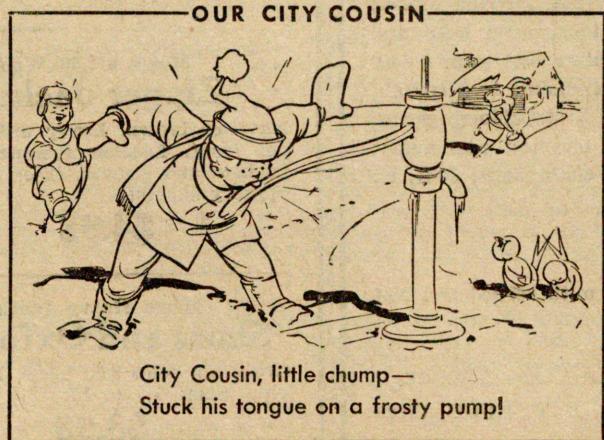

From livestock country to city counter, science blazes the trail for a thriving livestock-meat industry. Among these trail-blazers are 400 trained personnel in the Swift research laboratories and test kitchens. Pioneer-scientists, they develop new meat products—find new uses for more and more livestock by-products. Scientist-salesmen, they create new markets—better values for your livestock.

Yes, their work means money to you... millions! The average annual commercial slaughter for the last ten years was over 28½ million cattle and calves, nearly 65 million hogs, and over 22 million sheep and lambs. That's a lot of meat—and it's a lot of by-products, too! Cowhides, pigskins, and sheepskins, by the millions, for everyday leather goods. Well over 50 million pounds of pulled wool annually for cloth and clothing. Thousands of tons of lards and soaps for home and industry. Carloads of animal feeds. Tons of hair for upholstery. The list is almost endless.

Research found how to derive life-saving pharmaceuticals from animal by-products. Here numbers are important. For example, tiny glands from many thousands of animals must be saved to produce one pound of adrenalin, powerful heart stimulant. To yield one pound of crystalline insulin, vital in the treatment of diabetes, the pancreatic glands of 20,000 cattle are needed. Important, too, is albumin, tuberculosis "detector" recovered from cattle blood—and many more beneficial, all-important medicinal products derived from animal slaughter.

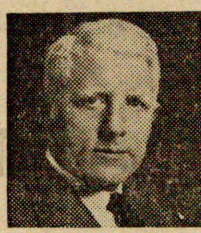

Now recent research has developed an entirely new line of important chemicals from fatty acids. One chemical from fat makes clothing water-repellent. Another is a flotation agent, useful in the separation of phosphates for fertilizers. Another prolongs the life of synthetic tires by causing them to run cooler. And detergents, "soap substitutes," have been recovered for use with hard water in the home and industry. So the list grows, from day to day.

Yes, science performs a direct, very valuable business service for you, the livestock producer. Through new products and new markets, it 1) maintains or improves the position of meat on the American menu; 2) often reduces the price we get for the meat to less than we pay for the live animal; 3) enables the meat packer to pay you more for all your livestock.

OUR CITY COUSIN
City Cousin, little chump—
Stuck his tongue on a frosty pump!

Business Must Serve

As you look about your own neighborhood you'll find some men who are assets to the community, others who add nothing to community life. These good citizens may be large operators or "little fellows." You do not rate them by the size of their operations but by their characters, abilities and what they contribute to the good of the community.

This same principle holds true in business. The business that performs worthwhile services to the community is an asset, whether it be a local concern or a big national organization.

In our livestock-meat industry both large and small meat packing plants are essential. Two-thirds of our country's livestock is raised and fed west of the Mississippi, where the great grainlands and grasslands are... Two-thirds of the meat is eaten east of the Mississippi, where most of the people live. Large packers are needed to handle the processing and distribution of meat for a nation of 145,000,000 people.

Swift & Company has grown with the expansion of the United States in the past 65 years. That's because we perform services of value to the people of America—to farmers, ranchers, meat dealers, and consumers of meats. We have to be efficient to provide these services. Meat packers have applied to meat products the economies of mass-production and mass-marketing. We have developed one of the lowest cost food distributing systems in the nation. By saving by-products and by reducing waste, we increase the value of producers' livestock.

But so keen is the competition—in both the buying and selling ends of our business—that these services have averaged us, over the years, earnings of only a fraction of a cent per pound of meat.

To all of our friends on the farms and ranches of America, we of Swift send our sincere best wishes for a happy, peaceful and prosperous New Year.

John Holman
President, Swift & Company

Homemakers use more and more meat and livestock products, thanks to findings of Swift nutritionists.

QUOTES OF THE MONTH

Animals have done more to make America great than any other one thing. Directly and indirectly, animals account for about 80 per cent of the jobs in the food industry, and the food industry accounts for about 55 per cent of the total employment in this country.

Soil testing with the Illinois tests not only saves the average farmer $50 for every $1 spent on testing, but increases food production by using every ton of fertilizing material where it will do the most good.

Grass Silage a Good Winter Feed

by P. S. Shearer
Iowa State College, Ames, Iowa

P. S. Shearer

Good quality grass or legume silage makes an excellent winter feed for all roughage-consuming animals—dairy and beef cattle, sheep, and even horses. Some have found it useful in feeding brood sows, and poultry, too. Grass silage may replace either a part or all the hay in a ration for dairy cows. Most dairymen who use it prefer to feed some dry hay with the silage. Since average grass silage contains only about 25% to 30% dry matter, it requires roughly 3 lbs. of silage to replace 1 lb. of well-cured hay.

In dairy rations, grass silage can replace corn or sorghum silage. On a dry matter basis it compares favorably with corn silage in total digestible nutrients, and if made from legumes or a mixture of legumes and grass, the digestible protein content is higher. This means that a smaller amount of protein supplement is needed to balance the ration.

For beef cattle, grass silage can be fed to breeding herds, fattening cattle, or young stock. It may replace a part or all of the corn silage, hay or both, though some dry roughage is recommended. Since grass silage has high carotene content it is especially valuable in winter rations likely to lack vitamin A.

Ensiling is not a magic method of making good feed out of poor roughage. Grass silage made from good material, well preserved and free from spoilage, needs no particular feeding precautions. Moldy or spoiled silage loses its palatability and much nutritive value; and it may be toxic, especially to sheep and horses.

CARD OF THANKS
I wish to thank all my friends and neighbors for all the lovely cards sent to me on my 80th birthday.

Mrs. L. F. Wilson

The Homemakers unit of the local PTA will meet this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joseph Schaefer. Mrs. Sam Carr will be co-hostess. Dessert-coffee will be served at 1:30 o'clock.

after which the lesson will be given on Remodeling of Clothes.

Mr. and Mrs. James Mudie of Chicago were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hamilton.

The regular meeting of the New Lenox PTA was held Tuesday evening January 11 in the grade school gym. Being "Dad's Night", the men took over with Darwin Cooper, the vice-president's husband, acting as president and being in charge of the meeting. Principle John Oster read the treasurer's report and Walter Hamilton the secretary's. After the presentation of the colors the meeting was opened with two solos by Eleanor and James Hammond of the New Lenox grade school band. Mrs. Burton Gillette led the group in singing in the absence of Rev. Ralph Miller. Routine reports of chairmen followed. The membership now numbers 217. Mr. Oster took charge of the program for Mrs. Hills and presented John Rogers, superintendent of schools of Orland Park, who gave a wonderful talk on "Pupil, teacher, parent Relationship."

Public Notice
Notice of Proposed Change in Schedule G-6

The Public Service Company of Northern Illinois hereby gives notice to the public that it has filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission on January 3, 1949, the following proposed changes in its gas rate schedule:

1. A list of communities supplied gas service, revised to indicate those communities recently converted from mixed gas to natural gas or recently incorporated.

2. Rate, 37, Industrial Volume Gas Service—Off-Peak. Gas is served under this rate to certain large industrial customers who use some other form of fuel during the peak period which includes the winter months. It is being refilled so as to eliminate the possibility of gas being used for space heating during the peak period and to limit the use of gas for such purposes during the off-peak period. Other changes are designed to conform to the use of gas under this rate with the Company's present load conditions.

3. Rider 2, Gas Main Extension. This rider is refilled to make effective its refund provision for gas main extensions in the future, where an advance deposit is required, in accordance with a proviso contained in Rules 21 and 22 of the Commission's General Order No. 159.

Further information may be obtained with respect thereto either directly from this Company or by addressing the Secretary of the Illinois Commerce Commission at Springfield, Illinois.

A copy of the proposed changes in the schedule may be inspected by any interested party at any business office of this Company.

IN MEMORIAM

SCHIEK, Caroline.—In loving memory of our dear mother who passed away 15 years ago, January 21. There's an open gate at the end of the road,

Through which each must go alone,
There's a light we cannot see,
Our Father claims His own,
Beyond the gate our loved one
Finds happiness and rest
And there is comfort in the thought
That a loving God knows best.
